How St. Patrick's Day is Being Celebrated.

The Green Flag Flies at New York

But on Brooklyn's City Hall Only "Old Glory" Floats.

CHICAGO'S IRISH RULER

NEW YORK, March 17.—If St. Patrick was not satisfied over the celebration today in his honor, it was not the fault of the Irishmen, who paraded in force to show their love and respect, announced their undying allegiance to his memory by wearing a sprig of shamrock.

The day was all that could be wished, both overhead and under foot, and with the fact that from the city buildings floating the flag of the little green isle across the sea, sent a thrill of true Irish pride right through the Irish heart, until it fairly broke out in bonfire and bonfire and bonfire.

The flag episode, the source of no end of protests on the part of those who objected to any but "old glory," from floating over the city buildings, but the cause of many a heated discussion and more than one fight, was settled by acting Mayor McClellan, who issued an order permitting the flag to be flown from the city hall and to spread its folds over the home of the city authorities.

An amusing incident occurred about 12 o'clock when an enthusiastic son of old Erin climbed up the flag pole on the unfinished court building at Center and White streets and nailed a green flag fast to the top.

The day passed quietly with the usual parades and games.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 17.—There appeared to be no real feeling among the Irish portion of the community today over the celebration of the birth of Ireland's patron saint as in the past.

Mr. Bowler thought Mr. Quincy called upon him in reference to the bond at not earlier than July.

FOUGHT IN HARD ROUNDS.

The "Coffee Cooler" and the "Cyclone"

Come Together at New York.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Prize fights in private are not new, but in this city in these days that the sporting people who like that sort of thing mustered in force last night to see the scrap between Frank Craig, the "coffee cooler," and Fred Morris, formerly "Muldoo" the cyclone, and latterly the "cyclone" of the Billy Madden regime.

Both men are colored and both are from Washington, D. C., the cyclone being the darker of the two. They fought for eighteen rounds, and fought hard.

There was no streak of yellow under the skin of either. It was a slap-dash game all the way through and the bigger man won simply by the use of his hands and reach. Craig was a man of 150 pounds or so, and Morris was under him by 15 pounds, at least. Craig was also the taller and has a longer reach.

The colored men put up a fight that was interesting from start to finish, and the spectators showed their appreciation of the good work of the actors by their almost continuous applause, not to say yelling.

Morris had a hard contract on his hands, but he made a great appearance, and did great work. He went at the "cooler" early in the fight, and punched him in the face.

In the seventh round he put the big man on the floor with swift swings on the body, and then he punched him in the face. The crowd thought that the big man was a very much used-up man at the call of time for the eleventh round.

The fighters fought on the ropes and in the center of the ring for several rounds, and when they finished: either one had more breath than the other.

At the end of the fight, Morris was down twice by well-aimed punches on the shoulder and head, and the lightest man had to succumb.

Morris fought a fair fight, which is more than can be said of Morris. The latter, seeing that he was "up against it," resorted to foul tactics, but the "cooler" invariably threw his hands and won.

Referee P. J. Donahue to run in and separate them.

Morris was cleanly knocked out when Donahue said he was beaten, but he was trying to get to his feet to take one more chance at Craig. Morris was badly marked on the head, and his eyes were swollen.

A KNOWN QUANTITY.

It is the practice of The Star to print on Saturday a sworn statement of its circulation day by day for the preceding week. It would seem self-evident that the advertiser is entitled to this protection, but The Star is alone in this custom as far as Washington is concerned. Below will be found the statement for the week just past.

The average circulation exhibited is believed to be nearly, if not quite, double the combined circulation of the other Washington dailies, and fully five times that of its afternoon contemporary.

NEWS OF THE OLD WORLD.

Anarchists Who Had Their Lives Insured.

PARIS, March 17.—The Gaulois says that the anarchists in London have been paid $30,000 insurance on the death of Valliant, the anarchist who was recently executed as a result of his conviction of throwing a bomb into the chamber of deputies.

The Gaulois adds that the life of Pauwells, the anarchist killed by the premature explosion of a bomb which he was carrying into the Church of La Madeleine, was insured. Henry, the anarchist who threw the bomb into the cafe underneath the Hotel Terminus, is also insured.

According to the Memorial Diplomatique an agreement has been concluded between the British government and the representatives of the anarchists in London, in regard to anti-anarchist measures.

The commune anniversary celebrations will be limited to a fete in the Maison Du Peuple, and to several sectional banquets.

LIBRONS, March 17.—Dispatches received here from Rio de Janeiro say that Admiral Da Gama's French corvette, the Yaroupana, was captured by a Portuguese steamer to convey him and some of his followers to Buenos Aires.

Sir Francis Cook sued. LONDON, March 17.—The breach of promise action brought by Mrs. Holland against Sir Francis Cook, the husband of Victoria Clafin of New York, sister of Victoria Clafin of New York, was opened today, before Justice Hawkins, in the high court of justice.

The promise to marry was made, according to Mrs. Holland, twenty-five years ago, when the first wife of Sir Francis was living. The breach of promise was made in 1869, when Sir Francis was twenty-five years of age.

Mrs. Holland claims $12,000 damages, and in addition the breach of promise to marry her, she alleges that the defendant caused a criminal operation to be performed on her, and that she is now suffering from the effects of the operation.

The defendant denies the charges, and claims that the plaintiff is now suffering from the effects of the operation. The case is expected to be a long one.

Acquitted of the Frenchman's Murder. BANGKOK, Siam, March 17.—Phrayot, the Siamese mandarin, charged with the murder of the French inspector Grosgrain and his Annamese escort, has been acquitted on all the charges against him. The court found that the evidence was not sufficient to prove his guilt.

Shanghai, March 17.—The first petroleum tank steamer has arrived here, but the custom house authorities will not allow the landing of petroleum in bulk. The tank steamer is expected to be a large one.

Plumbing Amendment. The Commissioners have requested the Senate appropriation committee on the District of Columbia to add an amendment to the pending appropriation bill providing for the cost of the plumbing work at the rate of $300 per annum in addition to what they pay they receive from the district for other services.

Alleged Violation. The Commissioners have received a letter from the secretary of the District of Columbia school building is giving out the money by the piece, which is a direct violation of the law, and he asks the Commissioners to look into the matter.

Farmers Complain. A delegation of farmers, consisting of Messrs. Cook, Armstrong, and W. S. Francon, of Forestville, Md., and George Benjamin of Brights, Md., called upon the Commissioners today, and presented a petition from the farmers of the District of Columbia praying that hucksters be prohibited from crowding them out at the market days.

Push Cart Men. The ten fruit and candy vendors, who were arrested yesterday for violating the law by occupying Pennsylvania avenue and 7th street with their push carts, as printed in yesterday's Star, appeared in the Police Court this morning for trial.

George L. Clark, who has for a number of years been a member of the bar, volunteered to defend them. He thought they were being persecuted. He argued that they had no right to be there, and that they were causing obstruction.

The judge said that he was not a lawyer, and that he was not going to decide the case. He said that he was going to let the jury decide the case. The case was adjourned for another day.

It is an easy sight, said the judge, to see a dozen or more of these carts on the street, and to see the principal thoroughfares as they do. Such a thing is not permitted in any city, and certainly it is not going to be permitted here.

Judge Miller thought the Commissioners should make a regulation concerning the carts. He thought that the carts should be removed from the street, and that the vendors should be allowed to sell their goods in a proper place.

The judge said that he was not a lawyer, and that he was not going to decide the case. He said that he was going to let the jury decide the case. The case was adjourned for another day.

Grave Robbers Wanted. Sheriff Dove and Deputy Sheriff Middleton of Prince George's county, Md., came here yesterday with a requisition for Toke Marlow and Thomas Jones, colored men, who are charged with having attempted on the 13th of last month, to rob the grave
